FAT BOY DIET

Scientific Diet Aids Reducing

Every day at first I went down half a pound, sometimes a pound. It got to be a game—one of the most satisfying games I ever played.

It was a scientific approach that was doing it. I repeat, before dieting always see your doctor first. No more homemade diets for me!

I trimmed the fat. I side-stepped the starch, I short-circuited the sugar.

I ate wisely. I ate easily. I ate slowly!

Here is an example of my homemade, self-prescribed diet, the reason fatties so often say, "I eat like a bird, yet look at me!"

This is a fine example of how to eat light and stay heavy by concentrating on high calorie foods that put on weight as the power you hungry.

This won't reduce you:

Sleek New Aircraft Will Carry Passengers On CPA Western Lines

Sleek new planes—the Convair-Liner—will soon be winging passengers on the far-flung Canadian Pacific Airlines throughout Alberta, B.C. and the northland.

Purchase of the planes for use on the mountainous routes was announced by Grant McConachie, pioneer bush pilot and president of C.P.A.

Flying times will be greatly reduced compared to those in effect now, and passengers will enjoy the comfort of sea-level cruising while flying at heights ranging to 20,000 feet. This is accomplished by the cabin pressurization, which creates sea-level conditions in the cabin no matter what the altitude.

The Convair-Liner is a twin-engine aircraft which carries 40 passengers, plus cargo. Top speed is 310 m.p.h. and the aircraft is powered by Pratt and Whitney engines of 2100 horsepower each.

Passengers can be assured of the greatest safety as radio and navigation instruments are of the latest design, and a highly efficient de-icing system is featured.

Luxurious reclining seats, tasteful interior colors and extra large windows are features which will add greatly to passenger comfort.

The five new planes will be placed on the various routes as soon as they are received in Vancouver.

Off-Street Parking Is Traffic Solution

EDMONTON—Frank E. Cox of Berkeley, Calif., said here recently that off-street parking facilities appear to be the only answer to the parking problem which confronts many cities in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Cox, a sales research and business development analyst and an authority on parking problems, addressed the Chamber of Commerce during a visit to Edmonton.

Master Farm Families

Once again we pause to congratulate the Hon. David A. Ure, Minister of Agriculture, on the Master Farm Family plan carried on by his department to honour the Alberta farming industry. By comparison to farming, any other Alberta business is of dwarf size, even including the booming oil business.

Community Publications, publishers of this paper, are proud of the fact that three of these families live in districts served by one of our community papers. The Edmonton Sun serves the Winterburn farming district near Edmonton, home of the E. R. Lewis family. The Mundare Star, a new comer to the Alberta weekly field this year, is circulated in the John Skrypietsky home (town and district of Mundare, and the Beiseker Times is well known to farmers of the Beiseker district, where the J. H. Schmalz family are also well and favourably known.

The Radio License Fee Farce

The Liberal party's advisory council, meeting in Ottawa last week, urged the government to abolish the $2.50 radio license fee. It's a good thing if the government will do it and it's about time.

Proponents of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation as an independent branch of government services argue that the only way to keep it independent is to have a separate radio license fee which shall be paid by the radio owners, and not have the costs of the CBC paid from the general funds of the government.

We have argued that a tax is a tax and regardless of what tax supports the CBC it is still dependent on the government for its revenues to exist. It will be just as easy for the Canadian people to pay for the CBC through income taxes as through a special radio tax, and have the terrific costs of keeping hundreds of men employed in going around collecting this tax.

The principle of the radio tax is totally foreign to our modern Canadian ideas and ideals. A small army of "investigators" is kept busy each year patrolling the streets and highways and byways of our country checking up on every citizen for his radio license fee. It isn't sufficient to buy a license—the radio owner is supposed to keep it ready for inspection at all times, and having a license doesn't in any way save one from the snooping of the Department of Transport investigators.

A nation with over $300,000,000 surplus shouldn't have to stoop to a $2.50 nuisance radio license fee. There is no reason why hundreds of able-bodied men should be kept from doing useful work while Canadians, rich and poor alike are taxed the same fee to keep them on the government payroll.

Wheat Quality

Western Canada's big wheat crop is turning out to be one of good quality, according to a recent report from the board of grain commissioners.

It is expected that 63 per cent of the production will grade 1 and 2 northern compared with 6 per cent last year and a ten-year average of 70.3 per cent. Last year only 14 of 1 per cent graded 1 northern, 5.6 per cent 2 northern. About 30 per cent of the crop will grade 3 and 4 northern.

It now appears that the protein content of the crop will be better than originally expected. No. 1 wheat has an average protein content of 13.2 per cent, No. 2 northern 12.7 per cent and 3 northern 12.5 per cent. The long-term average for Canadian wheat is 13.6 per cent.

Note and Comment

Stocks of grain in prairie country elevators totalled 141.7 million bushels on July 24th, compared with 99.0 million bushels in stock on the same date a year ago.

Add thou not unto His words, lest He reprove thee, and thou be found a liar—Proverbs 30:6.

Remembrance Day, 1952

By REV. GEORGE W. CAMPBELL
Pastor, MacDonald Baptist Church, Edmonton

Tuesday, November 11 will find most places of business closed, and in many places groups of our people will gather to remember and honor the men and women who gave themselves as casualties of war. In many a home there will be sad hearts because of the loved ones who sacrificed, suffered and died for their love of homeland, family, and freedom.

Many of us who are older recall when November 11 was Armistice day, and the high hopes that seemed to be symbolized in that day and the League of Nations. For such as us this day brings heavy hearts and troubled minds for we have seen those hopes dashed to the ground in a second world conflict and we realize the terrible danger of atomic war.

As I write this on a beautiful Indian summer day I remember, many years ago, the parade of school children to the memorial in my home town. I can still recall some of the mingled feelings of hope and reverence as we stood for the silent minute. Vivid, too, in memory are the words inscribed to the memory of the dead: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

They were noble words, even to a boy, and it was only years later that I realized that they were not first written for those who died, but for one who laid down his life, not on a battlefield, but on a cross. As I think back I realize that today when the troubled condition of our world, and the disillusionment that has come with the failure of our magnificent schemes for peace has left so many wondering whether there is any purpose in history and any meaning to life, there is no more needed remembrance than that, because the death of Christ answers once and forever the great questions of history.

There is a God. He cares for men such as us, and in spite of the evil men may do He still works His purposes out, for the One who died on a cross at the hand of wicked men is He who three days later rose in triumph over all the forces of hate and evil.

Ridgway On War Danger

General Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, recently held his first press conference at SHAPE and reported: "There is no reliable evidence known to me upon which we can justify the conclusion that the potential threat of armed aggression currently confronting us has been any way abated."

Ridgway issued this warning at the same time he declared that the military goal of 50 divisions and 4000 combat aircraft—which had been set at Lisbon earlier this year by NATO powers—was within "capacity" of the Allies. But he added that whether they will achieve the goal is "speculative."

It is obvious from Ridgway's remarks that he considers the situation in Europe more serious than many of the European Governments, which have been squabbling about the task of financing the rearmament program. In fact, it has only recently become known that the governments of some European nations are now concluding that the 50-division goal cannot be met.

This is a repetition of the same things which have happened in Europe, and in NATO too often in recent years. On this Ridgway had the following comment: "The military means available to us for carrying out the defensive purposes of NATO continue to be seriously inadequate in certain vital categories."

This, more than four years after the Marshall Plan was begun, and more than a year after the NATO organization was set up, the Allies in Europe still have no solid front and the latest military goal is apparently not to be met. The Supreme Commander warns that the danger of Russian aggression is just as great, however, and it might be—as it usually is in the case of democracies—that it will take an actual attack to stir the NATO powers into a wholehearted effort.

Voice of the People

ALL CLEAN IN ARGENTINE

In a recent issue of your paper you refer to Argentina as Latin Fascism. Every once in a while we see articles like this in other papers, too.

I wonder why?

Argentina has managed to stay out of war and destruction which is more than we can say for ourselves here in North America.

I was in Argentina a few years ago and found the people happy, peace-loving and their only desire was to be left in peace. They have not the class distinction that you see in some parts of North America.

So, maybe we have enough dirt in front of our own door if we wish to do any cleaning up.

THE HOPEFUL

I give a little sigh . . . inside, For the contests I have tried, And all the golden dreams I've spun, Things I could do, if I had won.

But dreams are such elusive things, And substance lacking, soon take wings, Though wheels of fortune I would win.

Fate never dreams that I should win.

I give a little sigh . . . and then, Another contest? Where's my pen?

APPRECIATE GIFTS

After enjoying reading your paper, we send it to our son who, too, gets much pleasure from it. We especially appreciate the only way this paper gives us to know what is going on in the municipality's affairs.

May we take this opportunity to thank all those who were so kind as to send us so many vegetables all summer. It was like a real garden coming to us without trouble, so we didn't miss the one we were unable to make this year, and we appreciate it very much.

SAYS WE'RE DEGENERATE

A recent Voice: "Converted to S.C.", blames Ottawa for high taxes. "Ratepayer" advises we have all become sycophants with hypocrisy in our daily lives. In the same issue the editor states we have freedom of the press and no political persecution here in Alberta.

All this is typical of Alberta's degeneracy. Political victimization of the press and personal freedom of assembly is rampant here. We live under the Union Jack and those who should "defend the right" are making Alberta a police state. Is there any denial to this?

FRENCH GIRLS SCORNE

In answer to those four dashing armers stationed in France who told the Voice that Canadian girls don't even rate next to Parisian beauties, let me say that they must be blind to the fact that French girls are out for what they can get. I suggest that when they get out of service, they don't come crying to us "unappealing" Canadian girls.

CALLS POLITICS CORNY

Newspapers could boost their circulations if they'd show more pictures of political celebrities greeting each other. These shots are funnier than the comics, and have more heart in them. The politicians invariably pose grinning like Cheshire cats. Perhaps they're thinking of all the yodels they're going to snare into voting for them.

Fear Rats May Be Common In Alberta
In 25 Years

W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture, warns that a slackening of interest in eradicating rats will be well established in all parts of this province in the next 20 to 25 years. It took 20 years for them to cross Saskatchewan, says Mr. Lobay. Rats first invaded Canada over a century ago when the first white settlers started coming in. They have slowly followed man westward since.

As far as Western Canada is concerned, rats were first noticed at Emerson in 1900. By 1914 reports of rats came from Delor-aine, Winnipeg, Fortage La Prairie and Brandon. The movement
1919, rats were seen near Yorkton Sask. In 1929, rats were established in Regina and Moose Jaw.
Shortly but surely, the westward movement reached Saskatoon and Swift Current by 1935-39. At the end of the next ten years (1949-49) the movement westward saw rats established within ten miles of the Alberta boundary in the region through Lovrina and South towards Alaska.

In 1950 the first colony of rats in Alberta was discovered west of Alaska, and since that time effort has been made to destroy every rat that made its appearance in the province. To keep the rats out of Alberta, co-operation of everyone in the province will be needed.
Any signs of rats should be reported immediately to the nearest pest control officer so that prompt action can be taken.

ALBERTA CORPS WINS RCAF ASSN. AWARD — To the Air Cadet Corps of High River, Alberta, goes the handsome trophy shown above, with the distinction of being the "best all-around Squadron" of the Air Cadet League of Canada. L. H. NEW QUOTA FOR WHEAT SET AT ALBERTA POINTS

WINNIPEG — The Canadian Wheat Board announced delivery quotas of eight bushels per seeded acre for wheat at 61 points in Alberta, 52 in Saskatchewan, 34 in Manitoba and one in British Columbia.

Seven Alberta points also were raised to 12 bushel quotas, four points to 12 bushels and three points to 16.

Following are the points affected: BRITISH COLUMBIA (Eight bushels) — Dawson Creek.

ALBERTA

(Eight bushels) — Alliance, Altario, Aspen Beach, Balzac, Barrons, Beiseker, Belloy, Bluffton, Bremner, Bulwark, Busby, Cecil, Codessa, Condon, Daysland, Dinsant, Eaglesham, Ellscoff, Enilda, Equiety, Fawcett, Fitzgerald, Grande Prairie, Hay Lakes, High Prairie, Indus, Kelsey, Killam, Kiron, Lac la Biche, Looma, Macpapa, Millet, Musidora, Newbrook, Penhold, Pincher, Ranfurly, Red Deer, Ribstone, Rocky Mountain House, Roma, Rosalind, Ryley, Scandia, Spedden, Spirit River, Spondin, Spruce Grove, Star, Stavely, Sunnybrook, Thorshy, Twining, Valentine, Vicking, Wayne, Wembley, Whitlaw, Wrentham.

10 bushels — Beaverlodge, Clyde, Headley, Kirkpatrick, Mundare, Tangent, Wimbome.

12 bushels — Cayley, Green-shields, Whiskey Gap, Woodhouse.

15 bushels — Gem, Patricia, Tilley.

Oat Yields Reach 150 Bu. Per Acre

GIBBONS — With the many large yields of various grain fields in the surrounding district, another good yield is reported. Mr. Robert McEwen harvested a 37-acre field of Eagle oats which produced 135 bushels to the acre. And Mr. Harvey McWhirter harvested a 19-acre field of Eagle oats which yielded approximately 150 bushels per acre.

Life's Little Puzzle: "Who writes the words to our popular songs, and why."

MILK PRODUCTION IN DISTRICT UP DURING POST-WAR INTERVAL

EDMONTON — At the October meeting of the Edmonton District Planning Commission, the Technical Staff reported the completion of a Survey of the "Milk Shed." Mr. Gortler explained that by comparing the acreages used for milk production in pre-war years with the acreages in immediate post-war and subsequent years, much useful information had been gleaned.

In brief, the survey showed that in pre-war days there was a comparatively narrow band around the metropolitan area used for milk production but that the area has gradually widened out very considerably and also retired somewhat from the city fringe.

Lands previously devoted in the main to grain raising is now being used for milk production. This gives a clue to rural population development, since more labor is involved in dairying than in the raising of grain raising.

The movement also affects the growth of the town and the economic prospects for the district; all of which information is of considerable value in over-all planning for the district.

A report was presented by the Public Relations Committee showing that it had been necessary to change the dates for the planning conference from October 30 and 31 to November 13 and 14; and that this conference will be held in the Memorial Hall in South Edmonton.

Steps are being taken to try and make the program attractive and informative and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance by those interested in the future of Edmonton and district.

The Commission tentatively adopted recommendations from the steering committee concerning possible amendments to the regulations covering the outline general plan insofar as the A and B-zone greenbelts are involved. These proposed amendments will be referred to the councils of the member municipalities for their reaction and further information concerning the same will be given it and when they are finally adopted by the commission.

Burial Mound Of Indians Found

BRANDON, Manitoba — Remnants of an Indian burial mound and village which flourished about 300 years ago have been located seven miles west of Brandon on the farm of Frank Stott.

The site on the side of a bluff just north of the Assiniboine River was discovered by Dr. R. S. MacNeish, archaeologist with the National Museum, Ottawa.

"The Stott mound is one of the best and most revealing burial mounds ever excavated in Manitoba," Mr. MacNeish said. It contained eight burials, seven of which were located in two pits dug by the Indians below the original ground surface. The eighth burial was that of a young child, and was intrusive after the mound was built.

Stone arrow points, knives, scrapers, awls, bone tools and pottery shards also were found.

Prices Of Cars Not Sagging

TORONTO — (BUP) — Car manufacturers are still enjoying a sellers' market and there is no indication that prices will drop, president Charles E. Wilson of General Motors said here.

He said that until the demand for new cars was met, there would be little chance of reduction in the present depreciation rate (about 30 percent) on one-year-old cars.

Wilson also said his firm had no intention of distributing in Canada the Opel and Holden cars it makes in Germany and Austria. "People don't like smaller cars if they're used to American models," he said.

New Pulp Mill At Yates

International Resources Limited, of which Richard Randall is president, plans to construct a pulp mill at Yates in the Edson district. It was recently reported. This company had a contract with the provincial government covering construction of a $6,000,000 mill and the assurance of a supply of needed timber to operate it. However, the original contract has been allowed to lapse, it was stated, and negotiations are expected to be entered into for a more extensive project. Unofficially, it has been estimated that a new contract will call for construction of a mill valued in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

Bang's Disease Of Cattle

No. 3 in series by Dr. E. A. Ballantyne, Director of Veterinary Services, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

The symptoms of this serious cattle disease are as follows: A cow may lose her calf prematurely at five to eight months of pregnancy. This is followed by other cows in the herd losing theirs too. In some herds a whole calf crop has been lost from the disease. Sometimes only 20-50 per cent of a calf crop is lost. That is serious though, as the cattlemen's gross income in a couple years when these animals should be ready for the market will be down several hundreds or thousands of dollars.

The usual story with Bang's disease infection in a herd is that a cattlemen buys a cow or more, doesn't get it blood-tested to see if it has the disease or not, brings it home, and after a while she loses her calf. This is followed by more cows giving birth to calves prematurely. Then some cows may have to be sold due to sterility from the disease, and the breeding program is upset. Usually, though, only the odd cow becomes sterile from the disease; Bang's disease has just about ruined many cattlemen. It causes an estimated $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 loss in Alberta annually.

Sand-Drift May Force Migration To Alberta

CABRI, Sask. — (RUP) — There may be a trek soon by southern Saskatchewan farmers living on the edge of the Sand Hills to new land in Alberta.

Victor Rea, agricultural representative, says the sand dunes are moving constantly, laying land to waste.

Farmers on the fringe of it will be able to exchange their holdings for land near Vauxhall, Alta.

Canada Declared Free Of Foot and Mouth Disease

OTTAWA — Canada was officially declared free of Foot and Mouth Disease last week by Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture. All restrictions on the movement of livestock throughout Canada and all precautionary measures against the spread of the disease in Southern Saskatchewan have been removed. This action does not in any way change present floor price policies for livestock.

No sign of the disease has been uncovered since May when the last infected herd was slaughtered. Test animals (calves and hogs) have been on all infected and contact premises for 60 days or more and none has shown evidence of the disease.

Today's official action removes all quarantines and restrictive measures, including individual quarantine of former infected or contact premises, and the general quarantine applicable to the infected area and buffer zone. Provincial restrictions imposed as a result of the outbreak have been removed.

Since the disease was diagnosed on February 25, 1343 cattle, 294 swine and 97 sheep have been slaughtered. There was a total of 42 premises involved by the outbreak, 19 of which were infected premises and 13 were contact premises.

The quarantine area involved only 21 rural municipalities of the well over 580 rural municipalities in Saskatchewan. Active infection occurred in 5 of the 21 municipalities.

"A very valuable citizen"

When a bank manager was transferred recently a group of citizens wrote the bank in tribute to his sense of public service:

"During the time he was here, we found him to be a very valuable citizen. He always took a deep interest in our community, so we feel we have lost a valuable asset. However, we feel sure that his replacement will be made with a man of similar calibre."

A bank man, by the very nature of his work, becomes part of the life around him. During his training in various branches, and as he takes on growing responsibilities, he learns more and more about people and how his bank can help them. And he brings to his community his personal readiness to serve in any way he can.
